

WISHING YOU A JOYOUS AND HAPPY HOLIDAY FROM YOUR FAMILY AT DIAMOND FINANCIAL

By Steve Mariani

DECEMBER 9, 2020

This year, the holidays are different. We celebrate differently, surround ourselves with only select guests, and have canceled our travel plans. Many will never visit a single store during the holidays. Who could have ever guessed after the strong beginning to 2020 most of us experienced?

Looking back over the last few months, I must admit that I have never built so many new relationships before in a single year. I call so many more people friends today than I did just one year ago. It appears the willingness to assist another person has risen to new heights. I see people all over the world pulling together to help whomever they can in whatever way possible. The strong have found avenues to aid the less fortunate, feed the hungry, and offer help to a neighbor. Although this has shown to be one of the toughest years for small businesses nationwide, we at Diamond Financial have never been more committed to the future of the United State's small businesses. We recognize and appreciate everything you do for this industry and the businesses we serve. We greatly value our friendship and thank you for your work each day.
